

HARVARD UNIVERSITY
THE BIOLOGICAL LABORATORIES

16 DIVINITY AVENUE
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS 02138

13 March 1980

Mr. Joseph Wisnovsky
Scientific American
415 Madison Avenue
New York, NY 10017

Dear Mr. Wisnovsky,

If convenient, would you make the following two modifications in the foreign language editions of our article?:

Page 36, paragraph 2, line 5. Add the word "binary" before "155-millimeter."

Page 36, paragraph 3, line 14. Delete "of it." According to the previous clause, we don't know the size of the Russian stockpile; therefore, we also do not know what a "considerable amount of it" is. We know only that there is a considerable amount near the frontiers.

I hope that you had a pleasant vacation. It indeed has been a pleasure working with you on this article.

Sincerely yours,

Matthew Meselson

Matthew Meselson