Dear Matt:

I was delighted to talk to you in Cambridge about the possibility of an article on chemical warfare. As I said at the time, I think this would be a real contribution and I would like to see it for the Summer if we could, which would mean getting it in early April. Otherwise, we would need to see it by the first of July for the Fall issue.

I am also including some recent clippings on the Soviet use of toxin weapons which you are undoubtedly familiar with. But any discussion on an agreement between the U.S. and the Soviets on the use of chemical warfare should take this situation into account!

As you know, our articles are generally around 5000 words, which is about 20 typewritten pages, but, of course, you could take a little more, or less, space as you would determine. I very much look forward to seeing the piece when it comes in.

With all best wishes,

Yours,

James Chace
