Dear General Milstein:

I hope you will remember our meeting in the office of Emma Rothschild at MIT more than a year ago. I am writing to ask you if you have any plans that would bring you back to Cambridge this Winter or Spring. If so, I would like to invite you to present a talk on any part of World War II military history to my Harvard class of about 30 students who study military history. Although I am unable to offer funds to cover transatlantic travel, I would be glad to cover the expense of travel from New York or Montreal and living expenses in Cambridge.

I very much enjoyed talking with you when you were here and hope that an opportunity arises to do so again.

Sincerely,

Matthew Meselson
