Dear Matthew:

Thanks for your second letter. But I am not going to say any more than I said already.

I believe the essence of effective arms control is to learn to live comfortably with uncertainty and ambiguity. That is the way the world is. Efforts to deny or remove uncertainty are usually harmful. That is why I am opposed to the demand for "verification," whether the demand comes from you or from Mr. Reagan.

With all good wishes,

Yours,

Freeman
