Dear Matthew,

It was a pleasure to hear that it will be possible for you to arrive here on June 15th and that you are willing to present a few seminars while you are with us.

May I suggest that you plan to stay for about two weeks, as the guest of the Tel Aviv University and of the Weizmann Institute. I shall be delighted to welcome you here and to arrange for you to meet with our top scientists and some of our young talented researchers at the institutes of higher learning in Israel. I shall do my best to arrange for you to meet with officers and other interested persons of the IDF, to discuss chemical weapons and other military subjects.

Days must, of course, be put aside for visits to places of interest in our country, so that you will have a first-hand picture of the beauty of the landscape and the diversity of its people. Let me know if you will be accompanied by your daughters, or whether you plan to come on your own. Needless to say, I shall do my utmost to ensure that you have an interesting and enjoyable stay.

Please confirm the length of your stay as soon as possible.
Meanwhile, warmest regards and best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Ephraim K.-K.
