Matt,

Thanks for the reprint from FOREIGN POLICY, I had seen it when it was published and can only say congratulations. In the back of my mind, it still seems that there's a potential story for us in the bees alone. If you are in touch with an expert on bees or know of any papers we can read for background, I'd appreciate it. There's certainly no urgency, but it would give us a chance to air the subject a little bit and at the same time pass along fascinating bee lore. Obviously, it also hinges on the ability to get pictures.
