Dear Dave:

The enclosed is a draft of an article on verification for publication sometime next year. I am sending it to you in case the subject is of present concern to you and in case you wish to pass along any comments before it is finalized. But please do not think I am necessarily expecting you to read it otherwise. I myself receive so many manuscripts in the mail, it would take me more than 24 hours each day just to read them all.

With best wishes,
