Dear General Kirshin,

I received your fax of some weeks ago and look forward to meeting you and discussing historical studies when you visit the USA. I have recently spoken with my colleague Julian Robinson of the University of Sussex in the UK about the two joint historical projects you proposed. We both feel that the idea is definitely worth following up and will try to identify suitable participants in the US, UK and FRG.

I can easily be reached, as before, via fax at (617) 495-8308.

Best wishes,

Dear Pr. Meselson,

My son told me that you called him up in Cambridge and wondered about the time of my arrival. He told me that you wanted to meet me. I am very much interested in meeting you too. But, unfortunately, my visit to the USA has been delayed for some time. As soon as I learn precise date of my visit, I will let you know. In continuation of our conversations in Moscow I would like to kindly ask you to help find experts from the USA, Germany and Great Britain for joint projects on the following topics.

1) Chemical weapons - in military strategies of the Soviet Union, USA, Germany and Great Britain (1918-1945).

2) The policy of employment and destruction of chemical weapons.

I am looking forward to meeting you in the USA. Best wishes to you wife.

My contact fax: (095) 200 32 62.

Sincerely yours,

Ju. Kirshin
