

Hugh-Jones

November 21, 1991

Dr. Martin Hugh-Jones
Dept. of Epidemiology
and Community Health
School of Veterinary Medicine
Louisiana State University
Baton Rouge, LA 70803-8404

Dear Martin:

I trust you will find at least some of these items interesting.

The article Robinson and I invite you to write for the Chemical Weapons Convention Bulletin would be a brief summary of where you think the Sverdlovsk mystery now stands. What are the most important and potentially evidentiary issues? What questions should now be asked? The length could be as little as ca. 1000 words written, if you like, in somewhat editorial style. The Bulletin goes to about 800 people, all of the negotiators in Geneva and a good part of the CBW arms control community.

It was again a pleasure to talk with you.

Sincerely,

Matthew Meselson

UNIDIR
Bulletins # 12, 13
Gumbel 5
3 Wall St. J.
Anthrax-Support of off. version