Dear Matt:

We were happy that you could attend our recent seminar on arms control in the Middle East. All of the participants with whom I have talked felt that it was a very constructive meeting, and we thank you for your contribution. In this vein, several of the Israeli attendees, e.g., Begin, Tzaban, Freier, and Schiff, have expressed the view that a follow-up meeting or meetings would be very helpful to them. In principle, we would consider this idea, as well as U.S./Arab and, eventually, U.S./Arab/Israeli/etc. conferences of the same kind--under the appropriate conditions. One piece of this is having the necessary financial support. To this end, a letter from you to me, expressing your (hopefully favorable!) reaction to the meeting would be helpful. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Marvin Miller
