

Morel

CARNEGIE-MELLON UNIVERSITY
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15213

*Benoit MOREL, associate professor
International peace and security*

Department of Engineering and public policy
(412) 268-3758

August 17, 1992

Dear Matt,

if you treat your love partners the way you treat us, you must receive lots of interesting letters. I am not an expert in hermeneutics and therefore at a loss to interpret your silence. I am trying to reach you, NOT to harass you. That would be far too dangerous in a country which puts sexual harassers in jail, and finds sexual intent everywhere.

I simply want to make sure that what we do is what YOU want us to do. Westview has agreed to publish our book. We are busily finalizing most chapters. Apparently they will be ready to print it in October. We are prepared to accomodate you, the way we do not plan to accomodate anybody else. Can you tell us whether you feel inspired to write something for that book, or not. We think that publishing this book during the fall is good timing, do you agree? We understand that you are overcommitted, do you believe us? If you decide not to write anything, will you feel relieved? We would survive, and seek comfort in alcohol and women.

Could you kiss your wife on my behalf, the way I wish I could do it myself,

Cordially Benoit

AUG 21 1992