Dear Sir:

I am currently a guest researcher at the Centre of Environmental Sciences at Leiden University, The Netherlands. I am starting a project on the environmental evaluation of the destruction methods of chemical weapons. Due to the nature of the subject it is not always easy to get the information I need. I am looking for qualitative and quantitative data such as power requirement, water consumption, emission of CO<sub>2</sub>, NO<sub>x</sub> and so on. This information is available for other hazardous waste but there is not much, to my knowledge, on chemical agents.

I would be extremely grateful for any information or suggestion you could provide.

Sincerely

Caterina Falcomer
