Dear Don,

Am I right to expect a guest article from you or from you and Lori in time for publication in the June issue of the Chemical Weapons Convention Bulletin?

If so, it will need to reach me by Monday 12 June at the latest, preferably on a floppy disk to avoid re-typing. You are welcome to send it using our FedEx account number: 1005-0764-1. Please let me know before the end of this week whether we should keep the space open for you.

If you send an up-dated version of the draft article that was being prepared for our March issue, I hope it can be tightened up by making it more substantive and less "preachy".

Also, the present draft appears to signal that the US has retreated from the position put forward in BWC/SPCONF/WP.10 of 22 September 1994. If this was not intended, you may wish to repeat the five points made in the WP. In particular, the draft lacks any reference to point number 4 of the WP: "The regime should include off-site and on-site measures, including short-notice on-site measures."

On another matter, the Pugwash meeting had some interesting aspects on which I would be glad to brief.

Best regards,

Matt
