This may be completely premature (and possibly inappropriate) but in terms of my replacement (which hopefully won't be until next June!) - were you aware that David Gualtieri (wrote the Manual for National Implementation with Kellman and Tanzman) is studying at Harvard this year - doing the LL.M. degree that I did last year? I don't have any idea whether HSP would be interested in him, or him in working here for a year ... but I only mention the thought in passing.
