Dear Professor Meselson,

Please find enclosed a sample of an offprint article we ran for one of the authors from the last issue. If you are interested, we could arrange for the printer to do the same with your piece.

My apologies that this did not reach you sooner - I understand from Sandy Ropper that you did not receive the samples I sent you some time ago. In any case, we can produce offprints reasonably quickly, should you desire, although you'll need to negotiate a price with the printer. I believe the price is quite reasonable and we can facilitate this for you.

You might be interested to know that we have sold this issue at a record rate and that it's doing very well in bookstores.

So, let me know if you'd like to proceed with offprints. You can reach me at emma.belcher@tufts.edu, or on my cell at (202) 270 2739.

Thanks again for your contribution to the success of this issue of The Forum, and I look forward to further contact with you.

Best regards,
Emma
