Matthew:

It is fine to share the CD of Report on A. The original finally emerged from "never never land" after disappearing from the DPG library, and is presently available at the Library of Congress and so is open literature.

I will send an email to Wang Xuan introducing you. She has been an activist in advancing the case of victims of Japanese BW during WWII. She may have current advice or may be able to offer other help to you. She has been shepherding the publication of a photographic essay book on the victims of the "rotten leg villages" which may be of interest to you, if she can get a copy to you, either now or in China. I wrote a chapter and I haven't gotten a copy yet, so I don't know if it is available. Her email is wangxuan@yahoo.co.jp

I have taken the liberty of sharing your email address with her, so that she may contact you directly. I hope you do not mind.

Best regards,

Martin
