Dear Vladimir,

This is a re-transmission of the e-mail I sent yesterday, in case there is still something wrong. This time I will not use the @fuug.fi.

"Jeanne and I will come to Ekaterinburg on Sunday, August 22 and leave the following Sunday, August 29.

We have the following airline reservations:

Sunday, August 22. Aeroflot 261 arriving Ekaterinburg 14:40 in the afternoon.

Sunday, August 29. Aeroflot 262 leaving Ekaterinburg 08:15 in the morning.

I believe the times for Ekaterinburg are actual Ekaterinburg times, not Moscow times.

Please send to me by e-mail an invitation for us to come to Ekaterinburg.

We already have an invitation to Moscow, from Professor Sverdlov. Should you need to reach him, he is working at home in Moscow, telephone: 441-99-80. His e-mail address at the Institute of Molecular Genetics is img@glas.apc.org but he does not go to the Institute often just now.

Here is information about Jeanne and me you may need for invitations:

Professor Matthew Meselson
Department of Biochemistry
Harvard University
Born May 24, 1930, Denver Colorado, USA
Passport number Z6855673
Issued at Lyon, France May 29, 1991
Expiration date: May 28, 2001

Professor Jeanne Guillemin
Department of Sociology
Boston College

Born March 6, 1943, New York, New York, USA
Passport number G743909
Issued at New York, New York, September 18, 1986
Expiration date: September 17, 1996

We will arrive at Moscow Sheremetyevo at 14:10 in the afternoon of Friday, August 20 on KLM Royal Dutch flight 301 from Amsterdam and will depart Moscow Sheremetyevo at 15:05 in the afternoon of Saturday September 4 on KLM flight 302 for Amsterdam.

After hearing from you, I will send an e-mail with information about what we hope to do in Ekaterinburg. We will bring a Russian-language translation of the draft of our report for Nature and will seek comment and possible corrections in Ekaterinburg.

We hope this finds you and your families well and look forward to the possibility of seeing you again.

As ever,

Matthew."
