

The Washington Post

1515 L STREET, N. W. 223-6000

WASHINGTON, D. C. 20005

September 29, 1969

Dear Dr. Meselson,

Thank you for your note today and the earlier enclosures.

I did understand your position but, upon re-reading my column, see I did not present it well. I will make it clear ~~them~~ next time I get into the subject. Sincere apologies for not making it clearer the first time.

The story in Sunday's paper makes your point in the phrase about President Nixon twisting loose the cap on lethal gas -- which I have enclosed.

Completely aside from the narrower question at hand, I would just like to get in a sentence of thanks for the tireless effort you have made to bring reason into this whole CBW madness. Only a few men can say at the end that they made a real difference as they went through life. And you are one of those lucky few.

So, again, from a citizen - thanks.

Best,

George C. Wilson
George C. Wilson

P. S. Am leaving tomorrow for week long trip to West Coast. After that, hopefully we can get together.