Dear Mr. Meselson,

I am very glad about your interest in the paper on CBW which I presented to the London Conference, and I thank you for the precious material you have been kind enough as to send me.

My work at the IAI concerns the problems of disarmament and arms control. I recently started to study more closely the problems of chemical and bacteriological arms. For the current year, I hope to edit the Italian translation of the U.N. Report, with a brief introduction on the political and military aspects of these arms. In this case, I shall be glad to send you a copy.

I would be very grateful if I could receive any further information on your considerable and important activity in favour of the banning of CBW.

Yours sincerely,

Franco Celletti
