Matthew,

Read your chapter and have only one comment:
The chronological order of the CBW Investigational Team formation is misleading time-wise. The team was in Thailand in Nov 1983 and therefore should be mention before your and Akratanakul field study (March 1984, last para page 6).

If you had all the message traffic from the CBW team you would have many, many more facts that would support the scientific evidence of the events occurring on the borders of Thailand. We documented many more instances that didn't fit Cracker's theory of what was happening .
